BACCI PARK CONCESSION STAND

Opens May 30, 2017
11 a.m. to 7 p.m.
Stop by for a drink or snack!

WHEN YOU ARE PULLED OVER

Getting a ticket can be annoying, but for the police officer making the stop, it's downright stressful. They literally don't know if you're just an inattentive driver or a hardened, convicted felon. That being said, there are some things you can do to make the entire event more safe & less stressful for both parties. Here are a few tips:

1. Pull your vehicle as far off to the right of the road as is possible, but don't take an inordinate amount of time making the stop. Signal your intention to pull over as soon as you spot the officer's lights in your rear view mirror.
2. Remember that police officers don't know who they are pulling over, even if they have run your license. Your car may have been stolen. So sit still with your hands at ten & two o'clock on the steering wheel until you receive instructions by the officer to do otherwise. Don't interpret an officer's caution for hostility.
3. Don't make any sudden movements toward the glove box, even if it is to get your license & registration. The officer could interpret the move as reaching for a potential weapon.
4. Similarly, never exit the vehicle while the officer is walking up toward your vehicle. It is often interpreted as a hostile action on the part of the officer as well.
5. When the officer asks for your license, registration & proof of insurance, hand them over in a timely fashion. Once the officer verifies your identity & sees no evidence of criminal activity, they will likely relax their stance somewhat.
6. Now is the time to be courteous, especially if you have a good driving record & hope to get out of the situation with a warning rather than a violation. Being courteous will go a lot further than anger, or raising your voice.
7. If you think you are innocent, now is not the time to argue. That's what traffic courts are for. If any officer asks you how fast you think you were going or what you did wrong, remember that anything you say may be used against you.
8. Remember, a traffic stop or moving violation is just a ticket. It's not worth losing any sleep over, let alone someone's life.

Dear Village Residents,

Forgetting to turn your clock BACK on Sunday, March 13, 2017 could cost you some valuable time; forgetting to change the smoke detector's battery could cost you your life! The Brooklyn Heights Fire Department reminds you to change your smoke detector batteries as you reset your clocks from daylight savings time. The time changes in the fall and spring coincide with recommended battery life in a smoke detector. Smoke detectors are present in 92% of American homes, but nearly one-third don't work because of worn or missing batteries. As part of our ongoing effort to make certain that every village household has a working smoke detector, the fire department will accept any resident's request to have their smoke detector batteries replaced. More importantly, if you do not have a working smoke detector or if it is ten years old or older, please buy one and we will install it for you. If you would like to participate in this program, please fill out the form below and drop it in the payment box located to the left of the main entrance of our municipal building (345 Tuxedo Ave.). I will personally be in contact with you to schedule a date and time.

Sincerely,

Donna Tesar, Fire Department Administrative Assistant

How to Test Smoke Alarms in Your Home

A smoke alarm is an inexpensive way to protect your family from smoke and fire injuries, but you must take the time to test it to ensure that it's working properly. A properly functioning smoke detector doubles your chance of surviving a fire by warning you of a dangerous situation before it's too late.

For minimum coverage, have at least one smoke detector on every level of your home in every sleeping area and in hallways outside every bedroom.

There are two kinds of smoke detectors:

*Battery-operated: These inexpensive units can easily be installed anywhere. They require frequent inspection to determine the condition of the battery.

*AC-powered: Installed by an electrician (or those with a good working knowledge of electricity), these units are much more dependable over the long haul due to their direct-wired power source. But they should have an independent battery backup so that they continue to operate during a blackout or an electrical fire that temporarily interrupts power.

All smoke detectors and alarms have a test button that, when pushed, causes the alarm to sound. Also, most detectors have either a blinking or a solid light that glows to let you know that the alarm is getting power.

Once a month, get up on a chair or use a broom handle for extra reach and push the test button. If you don't hear anything, then your battery is dead. If after changing the battery, the smoke detector is still not working, immediately replace it with a new one.

While battery-operated units have a built-in device that chirps when batteries get low, signaling the need for replacement, common wisdom dictates not waiting until that point. Batteries should be replaced twice a year, once in the spring and once in the fall.

Never remove a battery from your smoke alarm for use in another item, such as a radio, toy, or TV remote. Many people do so with every intention of replacing them in short order, only to remember that they forgot while standing and watching their house burn down (if they were lucky enough to escape).

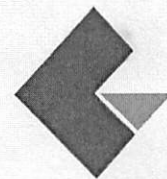

While you're up checking your battery every month, also brush or vacuum the alarm to keep dirt and dust out of the mechanism. Never use cleaning sprays or solvents that can enter the unit and contaminate sensors.

The button test ensures that the batteries are working. However, it doesn't tell you whether the detector is operating properly. To find out, put two or three lighted matches together (the wood kitchen type is best) and then blow out the flame, holding the matches so that the smoke wafts up toward the unit.

After a period of ten years, a smoke detector has endured more than 87,000 hours of continuance operation, during which time the internal sensors have probably become contaminated with dust, dirt, and air pollutant residues. If your alarm or detector is more than ten years old, consider replacing it to maintain optimal detection capabilities of deadly smoke in your home.

Please contact the fire department for help or to answer any questions regarding smoke detectors.
