WHEN YOU ARE PULLED OVER

Getting a ticket can be annoying, but for the police officer making the stop, it's downright stressful. They literally don't know if you're just an inattentive driver or a hardened, convicted felon. That being said, there are some things you can do to make the entire event more safe & less stressful for both parties. Here are a few tips:

- 1) Pull your vehicle as far off to the right of the road as possible, but don't take an inordinate amount of time making the stop. Signal your intention to pull over as soon as you spot the officer's lights in your rear view mirror.
- 2) Remember that police officers don't know who they are pulling over, even if they have run your license. Your car may have been stolen. So sit still with your hands at ten & two o'clock on the steering wheel until you receive instructions by the officer to do otherwise. Don't interpret an officer's caution for hostility.
- 3) Don't make any sudden movements toward the glove box, even if it is to get your license & registration. The officer could interpret the move as reaching for a potential weapon.
- 4) Similarly, never exit the vehicle while the officer is walking up toward your vehicle. It is often interpreted as a hostile action on the part of the officer as well.
- 5) When the officer asks for your license, registration & proof of insurance, hand them over in a timely fashion. Once the officer verifies your identity & sees no evidence of criminal activity, they will likely relax their stance somewhat.
- 6) Now is the time to be courteous, especially if you have a good driving record & hope to get out of the situation with a warning rather than a violation. Being courteous will go a lot further than anger, or raising your voice.
- 7) If you think you are innocent, now is not the time to argue. That's what traffic courts are for, if any officer asks you how fast you think you were going or what you did wrong, remember that anything you say may be used against you.
- 8) Remember, a traffic stop or moving violation is just a ticket. It's not worth losing any sleep over,

WHAT YOU NEED TO DO TO PROTECT YOUR MEDICARE PRESCRIPTIONS

The phone rings and the person on the other end of the line says, "Hello, I'm calling from Medicare. We need to update our records." Seems simple enough right? Wrong, it could well be a scam. Never give out personal or Medicare information to an unsolicited caller. The person on the other end of the line could be working to steal your identity, your personal information. By so doing, they might well be able to get medication through your plan and sell it illegally. This can be a source of big income for these identity thieves. For you, it can be a source of big problems.

Now that you know they are out there, what can you do to protect yourself? Here are a few suggestions you may want to follow:

- Review the Explanation of Benefits (EOB) statement that you receive in the mail from Medicare

You should carefully look at all the items identified on you EOB. Are there any medications or other services that you are unable to identify as yours? If so, dig deeper. When you see an unidentified charge report it immediately. Each month that a prescription is filled, Medicare will mail you an EOB. Review these as soon as possible so you can report a discrepancy and action can be taken.

- Hide or lock up your medications in your home

This is especially true if you have strangers coming through your home, such as during a house sale. Just think how easy it would be for someone who came upon your medication to take a picture of it. With the information on the label, they could readily reorder your medications. Since they might not even take the bottle, it would not be missing and you would suspect nothing.

- Whenever medical information or the labels on pill bottles is not needed...SHRED IT

Remember, the labels might have personal information such as you name and birth date, sometimes even your address. Do not make it easy for a thief to do their job.

- It is your job to safeguard your personal information and written prescriptions

Never share this information with someone you do not know. It should only be shared with your physician, pharmacist or a trusted advisor.

Please join our QUAD CITY Community Emergency Response Team

You Can't Predict...But You Can Prepare,

The QUAD CITY Community Emergency Response Team (CERT) is a training program that allows civilians and government employees to take the necessary steps in an emergency to save lives. The QUAD CITY CERT team consists of the communities of Brooklyn Heights, Independence, Seven Hills and Valley View but is open to everyone.

During an emergency situation, our first responders, who provide fire and medical services, may not be able to meet the demand for these services. Overwhelming number of victims, phone service disrupted and streets blocked will prevent people from accessing Emergency Services. We will have to rely on each other for help in order to meet immediate lifesaving and life sustaining needs. Our CERT volunteers can assist others following these events.

CERTs are not intended to replace a community's response capability, but rather, to serve as an important supplement to it during emergencies when response capabilities are spread thin.

The training program is an all risk, all-hazard training; hands-on and realistic. This valuable course is designed to help you protect yourself, your family, your neighbors and your neighborhood in an emergency situation.

CERT training is provided free of charge to anyone 14 or over. (Ages 14 to 17 will be required to have parental consent). 24 hours of service credit will be given to students. CERT members receive 24 training hours (one Wednesday evening a week for 8 weeks).

Dear Village Residents,

Forgetting to turn your clock BACK on Sunday, March 11, 2018 could cost you some valuable time; forgetting to change the smoke detector's battery could cost you your life! The Brooklyn Heights Fire Department reminds you to change your smoke detector batteries as you reset your clocks to daylight savings time. The time changes in the fall and spring coincide with recommended battery life in a smoke detector.

As part of our ongoing effort to make certain that every village household has working smoke detectors, the fire department will accept any resident's request to have their smoke detector batteries replaced. More importantly, if you do not have working smoke detectors or if they are ten years old or older, please buy one and we will install it for you. If you would like to participate in this program, please fill out the form below and drop it in the payment box located to the left of the main entrance of our municipal building (345 Tuxedo Ave.). I will personally contact you to schedule a date and time.
