2012 SCHOLARSHIP WINNERS TURN IN YOUR GRADES, GET A CHECK. (IT'S THAT SIMPLE)

Attention all 2012 Brooklyn Heights Men's Service Club winners. It's time to turn in your first semester or first quarter grades and redeem your $500 scholarship.

There are several ways to do this, and all of them are simple and relatively painless.
1. Mail John Black a copy of your grades to 5178 West 5th Street, Brooklyn Heights, OH 44131.
2. E-mail John Black a copy (PDF's recommended) of your grades at blackjo29@gmail.com. Please label the e-mail “BH Men's Club Scholarship Grade Submission.”
3. Please note - whatever you provide must show the name, logo or seal of the university, college or training school you attend. Please do not send instructions on how we can obtain your grades from a website or ask us to go to a web address. Doing so will only delay your check. Checks will only be made out to the individual scholarship recipient.
4. Questions, call John Black at 216-374-4518 or Tim Clymer at 749-4300.

THE BREEZE

MAKE PEACE . . . TIPS ON MANAGING CONFLICT

Irritated? Frustrated? Angry? Ready to Explode? You're not alone. Whether it's an argument with a friend, aggravation because a driver cuts in front of you, or a disagreement about the best way to do a job - conflict is part of everyday life. Conflict produces stress, hurts friendships, and can cause injury and death. We can't always avoid conflict, but we can learn to manage it without violence. That way, we use conflict to improve our lives and to learn from past mistakes.

What skills are needed to manage personal conflict?

- Understanding your own feelings about conflict. This means recognizing your "triggers", words or actions that immediately invoke an emotional response, like anger. It could be a facial expression, a tone of voice, a pointing finger, or a certain phrase. Once you know your "triggers" you can better control your emotions.
- Active listening. Go beyond hearing just words. Try to understand what the other person is saying. Listen carefully, instead of thinking about what you're going to say next. Active listening requires concentration and body language that says you are paying attention.
- Generating options for resolving a conflict. Many people can think of only two ways to manage conflict - fighting or avoiding the problem. Get the facts straight, brainstorm all ideas that might help resolve the argument, and discuss the pros, cons, and consequences.

MOVING AWAY FROM CONFRONTATION AND TOWARD AGREEMENT

- Look at your response to conflict. If your style isn't working - you're left with raging emotions that lead to more problems - try to change.
- State your needs & define the problem. Talk about the issues without insulting or blaming the other person. Don't state your position; that's simply your solution to the problem. Take a hard look at what is said (position) with what is really meant (needs).
- Together, discuss various ways of meeting needs or solving the problem. Be flexible & open-minded.
- Decide who will be responsible for specific actions after reaching an agreement on a plan.

IF YOU CAN'T WORK IT OUT . . . GET HELP

Try mediation. Courts, schools, and businesses are turning more and more to mediation to help resolve disputes. Mediators do not make decisions for people - they help people make their own decisions.

In mediation sessions, a neutral third person (or persons) helps the parties in conflict resolve their problem. Mediators should be detached and unbiased. They may be professionals or volunteers who have undergone intensive training. Mediators do not dictate a settlement; they encourage dialog, provide guidance, and help the parties define areas of agreement and disagreement. A mediation session is confidential.

Try arbitration. In arbitration, a neutral party acts as a judge. Disputing parties agree on an arbitrator who then hears evidence from all sides, asks questions, and hands down a decision. Usually the arbitrator's decision is final.

Try an ombudsman. An ombudsman is hired by and works within an institution. The ombudsman's job is to investigate complaints from the public against the institution, make recommendations and try to resolve problems. He or she has no enforcement power, but must use reason and persuasion to convince management that certain policies or practices should be changed.

TIPS FOR MAKING PEACE

- Choose a convenient time.
- Plan ahead.
- Talk directly.
- Don't blame or name-call.
- Give information.
- Listen.
- Show that you are listening.
- Talk it through.
- Work on a solution
- Follow through.

WHERE TO FIND HELP

- Schools, colleges, universities.
- Local or state consumer protection offices.
- Local government - district attorney, small claims court, family services.
- Better Business Bureau.
- Private organizations listed in the telephone directory's Yellow Pages under arbitration or mediation services.
- Law school legal clinics.
